“A little MORE of what you fancy does you good”

In the bedroom department, there's no getting away from it - men and women are often out of sync. While women like to take all the time in the world to get their rocks off (and who can blame them?), for many of you red-blooded males out there, it's all about the here and now - here now, over in a flash!

There are many reasons for over-rapid ejaculation. For example, the human species would never have evolved if our caveman predecessors hadn't been able to sow their seed on the run. But that's little consolation to the 21st century woman lying next to you who feels like she's missing out on all the fun!

Luckily, help is at hand in the form of STUD 100® Desensitizing Spray for Men. STUD 100® is a delay spray that gives you added staying power by helping to slow down the time it takes you to reach climax. Now you can enjoy sex instead of worrying about it being over before it's begun! Say goodbye to anxiety with STUD 100® and concentrate on satisfying her - and yourself - every time.

STUD 100® is available online and from retail pharmacies everywhere. It needs no medical consultation or prescription and is applied simply and discreetly in spray form. STUD 100® is safe, effective and fast-acting.

STUD 100® retails for around US$7.95.
